

Oregon and Washington Halibut Trips www.fishingchartersoregon.com

We offer halibut trips off the coasts of both Oregon and Washington May through August as well as halibut trips into Canadian waters from boats out of Neah Bay, Washington.

The halibut season is managed on a quota bases. Halibut fishing is typically the best early in the season in May and June.

We can insure that you will be fishing on the safest and most successful boats, boats that consistently experience the highest catch year after year. We have sport catch records for the past 10 years for all charter boats at all Oregon and Washington ports. This, along with our client feedback, allows us to provide you with the best trip possible.

Pacific Halibut boats out of Newport run out about 30 miles, and are 10 to 12 hours in duration. Fishing in over 600 feet of water for these giant flatfish, often over 100 pounds, they also pick up Lingcod, Black Cod, and Chinook.

Pacific Halibut boats out of Astoria and Ilwaco run about 50 miles out and are 12 hours in duration. These are physically demanding trips, but extremely popular with the adventurous. Boats typically depart by 5:00 AM sharp and return back to port about 5:00 PM.

Regulations restrict Halibut fishing to certain days each week until the quota is reached. Bag limit is one fish no minimum length.

Rockfish and or Ling Cod will also be pursued as a secondary target when time, weather, and water currents permit. These additional fish make a great Bonus to an already exciting trip.

We had an awesome Halibut quota last year, which made for a fantastic fishery. One change to last year's season is that there was no minimum length. In previous years, halibut less than 32 inches long had to be released off Oregon and California. Another change, sport anglers did not have to keep the first fish they caught.

Remember, space is limited, so to avoid disappointment, book early. Seats do fill quickly and quotas tend to fill early in the season due to high catch rates in recent years.

The north coast (Astoria) halibut fishery is typically open seven days a week until the quota is met. The central coast (Newport) halibut season is a bit more restricted.

Additional fishing days are sometimes added if anglers don't reach the spring quota.

Potential open dates for the 2006 season will be announced on the National Marine Fisheries Service hotline (1-800-662-9825) and posted on the ODFW Marine Resources Program Web site at: <http://hmsc.oregonstate.edu/odfw> Typically in March or April.

This should be another fantastic year for halibut in both Oregon and Washington.

Prices for 12 hour halibut trips range from $165.00 to $185.00 per person, depending on port. A 50% deposit is required to reserve seats, which includes a $15.00 service fee.

Halibut trips into Canadian waters for larger, 60 to 100 pound fish, are also available out of Neah Bay, Washington. Bag limit in Canadian waters is two Pacific Halibut per person. Anglers can now purchase their licenses/tag online.

All halibut trips depart from Neah Bay marina and are available in May, June, and July. Daily departure time is 5:45 AM sharp. Check in aboard the Advantage at 5:15 AM or the evening before.

U.S. Trips: There is a 1 fish limit plus bottomfishing after the halibut limit is reached. License is required and is available on the boat. Cost - $165.00 to $185.00.

Canadian Trips: 2 fish limit - Canadian license required. Passenger is responsible for obtaining a Canadian license issued in Canada, and online, and dated for scheduled fishing date. Cost - $175.00 to $185.00.

Fishing Licenses: Washington State Licenses: www.greatlodge.com

Canadian Licenses: www.pac.dfo-mpo.gc.ca/recfish/

All equipment is provided on all trips. You will need to bring something to eat and drink (coffee is available on most boats). Fishing licenses are available at the charter office. Information on nearby lodging and fish processing can also be provided by request.
